Allowable Subject Matter

2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The prior art made of record does not teach an electro-mechanical actuator/vehicle window lift system for moving a vehicle window comprising a controller for interrupting operation of a DC motor in response to a feedback signal, wherein the feedback signal represents a variation of a motor parameter such as motor speed and motor current with respect to a variation of torque, the motor parameter varies with respect to variations in motor load. Furthermore, the prior art does not disclose a method for providing pinch protection in a vehicle lift system comprising sensing at least one parameter of DC motor that varies with a variation in a load on the window, wherein the motor parameter includes at least one of motor speed and motor current and disabling the motor when a variation in the motor parameter with respect to a variation in torque reaches a predetermined level.
